

KEVIN T. SCHWARCKOPF

Associate Principal Architect

As a project Architect of CJW Architecture, Kevin provides the firm with a broad background in a variety of building types. He has experience in both public and private sector projects. His experience includes education facilities, government agencies, health care and medical facilities, office buildings, fire stations, conference centers, laboratories, industrial facilities, restaurants, retail stores, and multi-family housing developments. Kevin has many years of experience with public sector projects, and program management for educational projects. His ability in management and construction administration has made him a point-of-contact for many projects.

Prior to joining CJW, Kevin was one of two founding partners of CS Architects, located in western NY State. In addition, he headed the architectural division of a multi-disciplinary firm in Phoenix that specialized in educational facilities and fire stations. He was the main point of contact for four different School Districts in the Phoenix Metropolitan area.
